,The behemoth that is YouTube is about to grow even larger in its reach, as it looks like the Google property is getting into the business of original programming. quotes sources familiar with the situation that say YouTube could announce the beginning of these content “ channels ” as early as next week. YouTube is apparently partnering up with InterActiveCorp ’ s Electus, News Corps, as well as CSI creator Anthony Zuiker. Even pro skateboarder Tony Hawk is said to be jumping on the YouTube programming wagon. YouTube is also joining with folks that already create content for the site for this initiative. YouTube is trying to become a next-generation cable provider overseeing dozens of free online “ channels ” with professional-grade shows, people familiar with the matter have said. Google is putting up more than $100 million in cash advances to get some of the content produced, these people said. The company will recoup the funds from advertising revenue it sells against the content, later splitting ad revenue with the partners, these people added.,Going by that, Google is serious about trying to make YouTube a real competitor in the field. To aid the new original content, YouTube will be redesigned in order to promote it. The sources says that YouTube will be more “ channel-centric, ” promoting users to subscribe to channels based on the type of content or interests — this could include food, comedy, news, etc. If YouTube can create quality content with its new partners, it could be an important new revenue stream for the company. The question is, how comfortable will companies feel advertising on YouTube original content? It would probably depend on the initial success of the initiative, which would in turn depend on the quality of the new shows. Do you have high hopes for original content on YouTube? Let us know what you think.,,Using glass beads to make jewelry is one of the many ways to having a luxurious and expensive looking jewelry. Jewelry will always be amongst the many things women covet. Prices can range from very cheap plastic ones to diamond encrusted gold ones, which can amount to thousands, hundreds of thousands, to millions of dollars. And the best part, it doesn't put a hole in your pocket! You can also make your own glass beads for you or your own jewelry line! Here are the things you will need for your glass beads empire: 1 lb canister of propane, Matches, Single fuel torch, Mandrels, Wire wool, Bead release or kiln wash, Fiber blanket, Glass rods, Metal container for water, Pipe cleaners, A place to rest and cool your glass, Fire extinguisher, Ointment for minor burns And here are optional materials if you want to add spice to your glass beads, Bead kiln, Etching solution, Heat-proof tools for shaping, Heat-proof board, Vise-grip pliers A warning though, since you will be dealing with fire here, never ever let your children go near you while in the process of making your glass beads. Keep sharp and hot-burning objects away and out of reach of children. You must also wear protective clothing and keep the fire extinguisher and ointment near you at all times. So now, you are ready to start working with your glass beads. First step is to find an area where there are hardly things you might burn. Also choose a space where you can have enough room to work and keep your children away from you. Arrange everything you will need in a place where it is easy for you to reach for them whenever you need them. Take each mandrel and rub them firmly with wire wool. If you want to use a powdered bead release, mix it according to what is instructed. Leave the mandrel to dry in the bead release. If your bead release needs to be dried in flame, then do so. If not, do not heat it as it may cause cracking. Upon drying check each mandrel to be sure it is evenly coated and intact. Discard cracked mandrels as the glass bead might stick to this and it will become impossibly hard for you to remove it. Turn on the gas torch and light it up until you have a blue sharp-edged flame. Select the bead you want to heat first then, while holding it horizontally, wave it in and out of the tip of the blue flame. When the tip starts to glow, rotate it in the fire and watch as balls start to form on the tip. Take the mandrel with your other hand and gently press the molten glass ball with the mandrel and start rolling the mandrel away from you. When you have already enough glass put the glass rod away while still rotating the mandrel. Keep rotating it until a smooth curve is formed. When done, slowly pull the mandrel away from the fire and let it cool for a while. Rest it in a fiber blanket to gradually cool it. After cooling, soak the bead in water to release it from the mandrel. Soak the bead more and scrub inside. Let it dry and you are now ready to start making your very own glass beads jewelry collection. Making glass beads entails a lot of work but after making your own, you will certainly feel a sense of fulfillment. Enjoy making your very own glass jewelry and build that jewelry empire of your dreams!., Dior wristwatches impress me by luxury, creation and craftsmanship. Each time when I am fed up with the traditional styles, the famous brand always shocks me by its masterpieces. Among so many surprises, Dior Christal Diamond Wristwatch conquered me by its neutral beauty. It is not only a cool timer for women but also a satisfying jewelry for men. Just one glare, you are reluctant to move your sight from it. From the classic gloomy blue to the passionate bright red, then to the cool and fashionable black, each one is leading the trend of neutral beauty. They are the perfect combination of romantic customization and Swiss professional watch-making craftsmanship, designed by the world famous masters. Actually, the customized Dior Christal Diamond series was launched by the woman designer, John Galliano, in 2005. This representative classic was inspired by the Rock & Roll star, Patti Smith. John Galliano cut the usual sapphire crystal which is usually used for watch glass making into pyramid shape then inlaid them on the strap and bezel, making Dior become the first watch brand which utilized sapphire crystal material into watch decoration. The watch bezel with irregular sapphire crystal reminds people to cherish time since it passes so quickly. The watch name, Dior Christal, is also very interesting. It is the compound word of Christian Dior and Crystal. This year, the designer comes up with another novelty, using super large watch dial and super slim thickness to create a strong visual effect. Unimaginably, it is the convergence of masculine power and feminine charm. Similar to all Dior watches, it is encased with the emblem sapphire crystal. The uniqueness of this 42mm automatic mechanical wristwatch relies on the innovative diamonds cut. Different from the formal design with all the diamonds cut in the same size, the new timepiece widened the diamonds in the central row to make the whole watch more powerful. In order to soften the toughness, designers especially changed the usual pyramid cut into roundness. Accented by the stainless steel sheen, it perfectly interprets the masculine beauty and neutral fashion. Besides the black sapphire crystal style, it also comes with the luxury style with 190 brilliant diamonds encased. The extraordinary ETA2824 automatic movement makes this kind of wristwatch fashionable and valuable, continuing to lead the neutral trend in the fashion circle. Such a masterpiece drives the fashionistas who are addicted in Dior magnificent design and professional movement mad., Twitter is a wonderful place for one-liners.
